

THE UNIVERSITY OF HONG KONG

Master of Science in Interdisciplinary Design and Management [MSc(IDM)]

1. MSc(IDM) is an executive Master programme, providing an unique opportunity for experienced real estate, design and construction professionals to improve personal and team performance through part-time study. Offering a highly specialised course leading to a MSc degree, MSc(IDM) consists chiefly of interactive workshops and seminars in which students can apply their own knowledge and experience whilst developing a deeper understanding of how improved collaboration can help define long-term business strategies. The programme attracts the highest calibre candidates from several disciplines, capitalising on their own strong achievements and diverse experiences to foster a new generation of leadership. MSc(IDM) is offered by the Faculty of Architecture with teaching contributions by members of other faculties, by local industry experts and by internationally renowned visiting professionals.

Tuition Fees: HK$70,050 per year (Subject to official approval)

2. Study Mode: 2-Year Part Time
3. To be eligible for admission to the curriculum leading to the Master of Science in Interdisciplinary Design and Management, a candidate
 - (a) shall comply with the General Regulations;
 - (b) shall hold a Bachelor degree in a relevant field of this University or from a comparable institution accepted for this purpose;
 - (c) shall produce proof of relevant work experience (normally a minimum of two years post-degree practical experience in design, procurement, construction, policy-making or management of buildings, projects or urban districts, or an approved related industry field), including curriculum vitae and at least one letter of reference from a relevant employer or other as determined by the Programme Director;
 - (d) shall be fluent in both spoken and written English; and
 - (e) shall satisfy the examiners in a qualifying examination if required.
4. Applications for a taught postgraduate programme can be submitted in a hard-copy format (forms can be downloaded and submitted via our on-line application system at <http://www.asa.hku.hk/admissions/tpg>).
5. The closing date for application (September 2014 intake) is 31 May 2014.
6. The University should be able to inform applicants by the end of July 2014. If you do not hear your result by 31 July 2014, please contact the Faculty of Architecture on (852) 2219 4409.

November 2013